

Prager Metis CPAs Case Study

Overview

Prager Metis CPAs, LLC was struggling to consolidate their inventory of postage machines to one invoice. They have been our client since 2016 with a growing fleet of meters through acquisitions. Some of the key challenges included paying multiple invoices every month taking up staff time, understanding their equipment options when being led by their mailing equipment vendor, managing extra equipment through acquisition and handling divestitures, and vendor fees. Other challenges involved coordinating vendor open items, such as handling billing issues, equipment returns, and new installations.

Approach

When Postal Advocate started working with Prager Metis CPAs their equipment leases were expiring at various times with large variations in pricing from one location to another and they had multiple postage funding accounts. We help Prager Metis CPAs by utilizing our specialized knowledge and clear instructions to obtain savings for them.

“Postal Advocate provides the best prompt service without issues. I feel like I'm getting personal service. Always helpful and clarifies with specific instructions as needed.”
